New Translation of the Order of the Mass

Responses to the Readings

After the first and second readings, the reader will say "The Word of the Lord" Previously the reader said "This is the Word of the Lord."

The people will respond "Thanks be to God."

In many Parishes, this will have been the practice since the introduction of the Interim Text for Australia of the 2002 edition of The General Instruction of the Roman Missal (see paragraph 128).

Before the Gospel reading, the Priest will say "The Lord be with you."

The response will be "And with your spirit."

At the conclusion of the Gospel reading, the responses are unchanged from the present practice.

Very simple chants have been composed so that these dialogues can be sung. As at present, both the Responsorial Psalm and the Gospel Acclamation ought to be sung.
