

PLENARY 2020 – WORD FROM THE COORDINATING COMMITTEE

What a tremendous and hope-filled response to the invitation to participate in our parish listening and dialogue sessions - a big thank you to all!

Everyone who has signed up to participate in these sessions will be contacted in the week commencing Monday 10 September to nominate their preferred dialogue session times which will start in early October.

Everyone is invited to speak freely, to listen to one another with an open heart. To become a listening or synodal Church requires all of us to work together, to collaborate across issues that may have divided us in the past, so we become a Church in mission, to be of service to others.

It's not too late to be involved - your voice is important. Sign-up slips available at end of pews and on Foyer table.

Let us remember in our prayers ...

Cardinal Beniamino Stella, prefect of the Congregation for ClergyCatholic News Service September 5

Clericalism has led to a distorted view of authority that has contributed to the problems of sexual abuse and the abuse of power and conscience affecting the Catholic Church, said the head of the Vatican's clergy office.

Cardinal Beniamino Stella, prefect of the Congregation for Clergy, said the crisis facing the Church would not have been so grave if laity were more involved in the formation of current and future priests.

"Even the work of the dicastery attests that many situations in the lives of priests - generated by loneliness, tiredness and misunderstandings - would not have degenerated or would have been addressed in time if there had been listening, accompaniment and sharing by bishops and the entire Christian community," Stella said Sept. 3 in Fatima, Portugal. The cardinal's office gave the text to Catholic News Service Sept. 5.

Dedicating his talk to priestly ministry according to Pope Francis's teachings, the cardinal said priests must be "permanent disciples of the Lord" who always are on guard against the temptation of "feeling accomplished."

"To be and feel like a disciple means avoiding the risk of habit, of being lukewarm, of routine and the 'corporate executive syndrome,' thus avoiding falling into what Pope Francis has defined as 'spiritual Alzheimer's,'" the cardinal said."

"On the contrary, precisely clericalism, and often the reduction of the Church to an elite class, has generated an anomalous way of understanding authority that has devalued baptismal grace and, not infrequently, has contributed to forms of abuse, especially on a person's conscience," Cardinal Stella said.

Laypeople, he added, can contribute to "the essential human formation of the priest and the necessary spiritual solidarity of his life."

"Together, priests and laity, as the one people of God - each one according to the specificity of their vocation - we are invited to walk and work in the service of the Kingdom of God, supporting one another and sharing with tender love the joys, difficulties and sufferings," Cardinal Stella said.

WHERE HAS OUR CROSS GONE? – YOU ASK- From the apex above the main entrance

Our engineering inspection has already begun to yield results. The large concrete cross above the main entrance was in a perilous state and required immediate removal for the safety of parishioners and visitors. It was VERY close to complete disintegration. This inspection is assisting us in the development of a long-term strategic plan for our ongoing preservation and maintenance program.
