POPE FRANCIS: WAR IS ALWAYS A LOSS FOR ALL HUMANITY

By Courtney Grogan, Catholic News Agency

Pope Francis marked the 70th anniversary of the Geneva Conventions with a message urging the protection of life and human dignity in armed conflicts.

"Let us not forget war and terrorism are always a serious loss for all humanity," Pope Francis said on 11 August. The Geneva Conventions are "important international legal instruments that impose limits on the use of force and are aimed at the protection of civilians and prisoners in times of war," Francis said.

Signed amid the aftermath of World War II on August 12, 1949, the four Geneva Conventions expanded international humanitarian law for the protection of civilian populations during war and further defined protocols for the humane treatment of prisoners of war, as well as for the wounded and the sick. Pope Francis urged the particular importance of protecting unarmed populations and civil structures today, especially hospitals, schools, places of worship, and refugee camps.

Last month the pope spoke out after an airstrike hit a migrant detention centre amid the armed conflict in Libya, killing more than 50 people. "The international community cannot tolerate such serious facts," Francis said.

Hospitals and schools also became targets during the Syrian civil war. More than 300 healthcare facilities in Syria were attacked in the conflict by 2018, according to Physicians for Human Rights.

Pope Francis said that he hopes the anniversary of the Geneva Conventions will help countries today to be more "aware of the indispensable need to protect the life and dignity of victims of armed conflicts."
