POPE FRANCIS: REFLECTIONS ON CONFIRMATION

On 6 June Pope Francis said that the sacrament of Confirmation is a gift meant to be shared with other people, both inside and outside of the Church, which he stressed is not only the hierarchy, but is made up of all baptised faithful.

“The mission of the Church in the world proceeds through the contribution of those who are a part of it,” he said, noting in off-the-cuff comments that when it comes to how the Church is understood, “some think that there are only bishops, the bosses, and then there are the workers. No, the Church is all of us, everyone, each person has their role in the Church, but we are all the Church,” he said, adding that “we must think of the Church as a living organism, composed of people who we know and with whom we walk, and not as an abstract and distant reality. The Church is we who walk, we who are here in the square. It’s everyone,” he said.

“It is precisely the Holy Spirit who de-centres us from our ‘I’ in order to open ourselves to the ‘we’ of the Christian community, as well as to the society in which we live,” he said, adding that the soul is not a “warehouse,” and that as Christians, “we are not the centre, we are an instrument to give to others. To receive peace means committing to work toward improving harmony in the parish, encouraging understanding with others, including, rather than discarding or marginalising.” It also means being able to recognise and appreciate differences, because “the Holy Spirit is creative and not repetitive. His gifts arouse a symphony and not monotony!” Francis then challenged the crowd to think of their own parish community and how they act after giving and receiving the sign of peace during Mass. While the sign of peace is symbolic of the harmony and charity that ought to guide members of the Church, the pope noted that many times when people leave Mass “we start to gossip. And gossip is war against others. If we have received peace, we must give it to others,” he said, stressing that “gossip is not a work of the Holy Spirit...please don’t gossip.”

Only by “opening ourselves and going out of ourselves to encounter our brothers and sisters can we truly grow and not just fool ourselves,” he said, adding that when Catholics receive the Holy Spirit, “it must in fact be given so that it bears fruit and is not buried because of our selfish fears.” Quoting his exhortation on holiness Gaudete et Exultate, the pope said Catholics need to be prompted by the Holy Spirit, “lest we be paralysed by fear and excessive caution, lest we grow used to keeping within safe bounds. Let us remember that closed spaces grow musty and unhealthy,” he said, and urged Confirmation candidates not to “cage the Holy Spirit” by resisting his inspiration or suffocating “the burning fire of charity which consumes his life for God and for others.”
