ARCHBISHOP COSTELLOE'S LENTEN MESSAGE (Part Three)

At this time in our history we are very conscious of our need for a pure heart and a steadfast spirit as the insidious power of sin at work in our own Church communities confronts us. The Final Report of the Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse has shone a blinding light into the dark places of the Church, enabling us to realise the terrible burden so many have had to bear, and still bear, because of the devastating failures of some clergy, religious and other Church personnel and the often grossly inadequate response of some of our leaders to this shocking betrayal of trust.

We have much to be ashamed of, much to apologise for, much to seek forgiveness for, and much to learn. It would be a further betrayal if we did not, as a community, commit ourselves in this particular Lent to a time of prayer, penance and reparation, and to concrete action. (Part 4 next week)

VATICAN CITY – 27 FEBRUARY

Priests must be mindful that the confessional is a place where people can find forgiveness and mercy, not threats and condemnation, Pope Francis said. God "does not want to beat us and condemn us," but rather "he always looks for a way to enter the hearts" of those who are repentant, the pope said in his homily on at morning Mass in the Domus Sanctae Marthae.

"When we priests — in the Lord's place — hear confessions, we also must have this attitude of goodness like the Lord, who says, 'Come, let us talk, there is no problem, there is forgiveness,' and not with a threat from the beginning," he said. The relationship between God and his people, the pope said, is like that of the father of a teenager who has done something foolish and must be reproached. The father "knows that if he goes with a stick, things won't go well; he must enter with confidence. 'Come now. Let's grab a coffee. Let's talk. Don't be afraid, I don't want to beat you,'" Pope Francis said.

Through the sacrament of reconciliation, he added, Jesus "does not threaten but rather calls us with kindness, having confidence in us," which allows people seeking forgiveness to take "a step forward on the path of conversion." Recalling the example of a cardinal who, in the confessional, would not say much when someone confessed a great sin, Pope Francis said God also does not dwell on sins and instead gives "a receipt of forgiveness."

'A Just Future' starts with your support. Boxes and envelopes are available on the tables as you leave the church; envelopes can be placed in the second collection basket. You can also phone 1800 024 413 or visit www.caritas.org.au/projectcompassion.

Bayan, a 12-year-old Syrian girl in Jordan, struggled to overcome the trauma of living in a conflict zone, facing the prospect of missing out on school. With Caritas Australia's support, Bayan is excelling in her studies with ambitions to become an ophthalmologist.

Please donate to Project Compassion 2018 and help equip young people to succeed in the future, providing just futures for others like Bayan.
